

Rewrite the following sentences to correct the structure and meaning of the sentences. Be sure to punctuate properly.

1. The young girl was walking the dog in a short skirt.
2. The dog was chasing the boy with the spiked collar.
3. The professor posted the notes for the students covered in class.
4. A small book sat on the desk that Sarah had read.
5. Passing the building , the vandalism became visible.
6. To understand the causes, vandalism has been extensively investigated.
7. Driving north, the vegetation became increasingly sparse.
8. By the age of fourteen, both of Jack's parents had died.
9. Unaware of what had happened, the confusion puzzled Jan.
10. Looking out the window, a velvety lawn ran down to the river's edge.
11. When not croaking, the chance that the frogs will be eaten by predators is reduced.
12. We have an assortment of combs for physically active people with unbreakable teeth.
13. Trying desperately to get under the fence, Paul's mother called him.
14. After standing in line for five hours, the manager announced that all the tickets had been sold.
15. Cost-efficient and convenient, many of today's corporate employees are being trained through computer-assisted instruction.