capital punishment should be abolished for three major reasons first common sense tells me that two wrongs doesn't make a right to kill someone convicted of murder contradicts the reasoning behind the law that taking another's life is wrong the state is committing the same violent dehumanising act it was condemning second the death penalty is not an affective deterrent numerous studies show that murder is usually the result of a complex psychological and sociological problem and that most murderers do not contemplate the consequences of their acts or if they do any penalty are seen as a far off possibilities the offense on the other hand brings immediate gratification the third and most serious objection is that death is final and cannot be altered errors in deciding guilt of innocence will always be present in our system of trial by jury there is too great a risk the innocent people will be put to death official records show that it has happened in the past for these reasons I feel capital punishment should be replaced with a system that puts all doubt on the side of life not death
